

The FCC should consider the international ramifications before they go ahead with this. The huge negative impact that this will create will not simply be felt by Americans.